'Indeed,' said the college predent, 'Indeed,' said the college predent, 'Indeed,' said the college predents are the college predent of the college predents are several years. The work has been most graftfying.'

An experiment employed by the faculty this year regulating absence has seemed to have worked wonders in bringing about betty attendance upon classes. The regulation is that a student who may have been absent from more than two recitations within the month is required to stand an examination on the months' work. This is not intended as primitive, but only insures the students doing the whole month's work. Incidentally.

doing the whole month's work. Incidentally, all the chronic cases of sickness have been cured.

The Athletic Executive Committee yesterday elected, Messrs, John A. Cutchins, of Richmond, and W. H. Yancey, of South Boston, editors of the college weekly. The Colegian, and Mr. S. B. Brings, of Staunton, as business manager. The Collegian is about one year old, and has secured a warm place in the hearts of the students. Under the new management it is expected to continue to advance athletic and other organized interests of the boys, as the excellent editorial work of the previous editors has done. Mr. Harle Schultz, of Richmond, is the rétiring editorin-chief.

Professor and Mrs. W. K. Harris, left yesterday for Jasper, Tox., being called away on account of the declining health of Mrs. Harris's mother. The professor will return by January 2d, to begin the work of the winter term.

Two new students arrived at the college yesterday from Russell county, to matriculate in time for the next term.
